Chase McKay Didn't Get up Today is a delightful rhyming story for little ones to read along. This snuggle, giggle book has become a bedtime favorite. 2009 Arizona Glyph Award Finalist and 2010 Southwest Book Award finalist, this great children's picture book will warm your heart with the charming pictures and catchy rhythm.

Cindy R. Williams Bio

Cindy is a mother, wife, writer, harpist, and dreamer. Cindy lives in magical worlds and visits this world now and again. Cindy says, "I began life as a mermaid, and am now a fairy. I graduated from BYU in Communications with PR major and an emphasis in Broadcast News. I love being a wife and a mother of five fantastic children. I'm working hard to make it to the back end of life in one piece, or at least with most of my pieces, and having reached my potential."

Illustrated by Donald Jenny: As a Free Lance Artist for over 30 years, Donald Jenny has designed many book covers for various writers, published and soon to be published. He recently shifted his focus to the Children's Book division. His website is <http://donaldworld.com>.
